

YATES FAMILY PHOTOS
TUPPER LAKE and ORCHARD PARK,
NEW YORK
c. 1915 – 1950s

FAITH BAILEY (JOHNSON) YATES PHOTOS c.1915 – 1950s

For most of her life, Faith Bailey (Johnson) Yates (of Tupper Lake and Orchard Park, New York) carried a small Kodak Brownie type box camera with her. She took hundreds of black and white snapshots, almost exclusively of close family members. A few dozen of the black and white photos exist as prints in an album, some with captions, but the majority were found as unidentified negatives in a box.

These 657 negatives, mostly family photos, were scanned, and in 2006, daughter Patricia Yates Andrie added identifications for those she could. Her captions as well as the information from the photo album captions are included in this album. The images are not in any specific order but dates have been added when known.

Note that in addition to this PDF file, this Archives.org item also includes corresponding TIF and JPG files for each image which can be downloaded separately. Scroll down and click on "Show all." File Yates-01-001.TIF or Yates-01-001.JPG, for example, will be found for the corresponding image.
